

NXP – the new company born out of Philips Semiconductors

With all the energy of a new beginning, fueled by 53 years of solutions, NXP Semiconductors is ready to answer all your questions – especially the impossible ones. The ones that see old dreams but soon will be transformed into amazing sensory experiences.

Driven by the same mind and the curiosity of a newborn, NXP is already leading the world of silicon media technologies. This leadership position is reflected in billions of dollars invested in research projects, the registration of more than 23,000 patents and the numerous state-of-the-art solutions in the IS, Automotive, Mobile and Home sectors. Discover how your innovations can be seen, heard and felt in a completely new way at www.what-if-you-could.com, because the question here runs on to: what would you like to question?

What if you could

NXP
found by Philips

What if you could become a new you?

Founded by

PHILIPS